PROGRAM

Wednesday, November 7, 2018 • 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
Crystal Ballroom

Horizontal and Vertical Ridge Augmentation

Many techniques and augmentation materials have been described for horizontal and vertical ridge augmentation. These include guided bone regeneration (GBR), ridge expansion/splitting, autogenous onlay block grafting, titanium mesh techniques, distraction osteogenesis, and interpositional osteotomy. While many techniques offer excellent results, in some situations few can be said to guarantee success. Many questions remain on which methods yield the most predictable results for dental implant placement in grafted bone. The aim of this lecture is to critically evaluate the current evidence to determine the predictability of various bone augmentation techniques for horizontal and vertical ridge defects for implant placement. A series of cases have been gathered to illustrate risk assessment and predictable management of various critical size defects ranging from moderate to severe.

Note: Eight hours of continuing education will be provided
For more information, please contact the Society's Executive Director, Maggie DiJulio at 301-924-0519 or visit the MASOMS website at www.masoms.org.
